

Piers and Rails

The apparel logistics supply chain demand at the gateway ocean piers and railheads both inbound and outbound are extreme and well known to all who struggle to get their product through this transcontinental bottleneck. Any company attempting to service this critical component in the supply chain must be well versed in the rules and procedures that govern these operations to achieve the desired release and recovery of product on time. There is no other option other than truly competent transportation resources coupled with strong management and fully integrated IT systems.

Dynamic owns and operates an extensive fleet of local tractors and drivers at the gateway port-of-entry points in New York, New Jersey, California, and Florida. We provide ocean container recovery daily at all the piers and domestic railheads, and transport direct to our customers DC's and warehousing operations. We provide all EDI event update transactions wherever required, and Dynamic provides full web-access visibility into all Delivery Order status and history.

We are well versed in all the rules, procedures, and industry standards that govern the safe and secure handling and processing of ocean shipments and containers, in full conformance with all C-PAT conditions. We provide full accountability to our customers in every aspect of the process. In addition, we specialize in hanging garments (GOH/Garment On Hanger) and Flat Pack ocean shipment loading, unloading, handling, processing, and transportation. Throughout the industry Dynamic is widely recognized as the leading experts in this field.

Wherever needed, we provide a wide range of apparel-related value added services such as:

- Dynamic-owned and operated bonded CFS services.
- Ocean container trans-loading services, including GOH and Cartons.
- Reconciliation against the packing lists down to SKU level or apparel style/color/size level.
- All Retail Department Stores-compliant pick and pack and distribution services.
- On-site repair facility for product label change, ticketing, pressing and repair.
- Consolidation with other air or ocean freight.
- Stage and release for future delivery date programs.
- Load and release via Dynamic Express or other domestic carriers direct to our customers DC's.
- Real-time visibility of all processes and services via data sharing updates.
- Drop ship orders direct to Retail DC's on our customer's behalf.

Dynamic has all the resources our customers need to safely and securely expedite the smooth transition of product from the gateway piers and railheads into our customers control.
